Dear Filmmaker,

All of us at the Virginia Film Office are dedicated to making your stay in Virginia easy and productive. Whether you need locations, solutions to production challenges or just want to find the best places to eat, our staff is always ready to assist you.

Since 1607, Virginia has been at the center of American history and heritage. No other state can provide you with the unique blend of locations that span the centuries from pre-colonial America to the 21st century. Here, the Atlantic Ocean meets the majestic Blue Ridge Mountains with cities and towns of all sizes and descriptions. Discover what Virginia has to offer at FilmVirginia.org where our extensive online library features thousands of Virginia locations.

Everyone knows that Virginia is for Lovers. We love our state and we love to show filmmakers how they can make their projects work here. Contact one of us and we'll show you how.

I hope I'll be seeing you soon in Virginia.

Sincerely,

Andy Edmunds

The Virginia Film Office website is your source for the most up-to-date information about filming in Virginia.

Location Library: The Virginia online location library features more than 4,000 Virginia locations and uses Reel-Scout location library technology, making it functional and easy to use.

Virginia Crew & Services: The website features REEL CREW, a searchable database featuring Virginia crew and support services. Also available on the site is the Mid-Atlantic Production Services Directory, a listing of crew and services available in the Mid-Atlantic region of Virginia, Washington D.C. and Maryland.

Incentives: Information, guidelines and an application for Virginia's incentive package are available online.

Maps: Find out more about Virginia using interactive regional maps with detailed information about local accommodations, dining and points of interest.

Local Film Liaison: Utilize Virginia's network of individuals trained and ready to help with local production needs.

Weather & Climate: Find current information about Virginia's weather and climate, including sunrise and sunset times and a fall foliage map.

Film Festivals & Screening Series: Explore Virginia's regional film festivals, screenings and film-related events.

Links: Use the website to find links to state and local services, production organizations and historic resources.

For Virginians: There is a wealth of valuable information on the website just for Virginians, including production news and details about the Virginia Screenwriting Competition and internship opportunities at the Film Office.

Labor Regulations

Right To Work Law.

- Virginia is a right-to-work state. The following is a summary of some of the provisions of Virginia's right-to-work laws as they pertain to film and video production.
- Union membership shall not be a condition of employment to work on a production.
- Non-union members shall not be required to join a union or to pay dues or any other fees as a condition of employment.
- No union can require an employee to enter into an agreement that violates any provisions of the right to work law.
- A union cannot require a production company to enter into any agreement that violates provisions of Virginia's right to work law.

Child Labor Laws

To work in a film, children under the age of 16 are required, by Virginia law, to have a Theatrical Work Permit. Application for this permit must be made to the Commissioner of Labor and Industry at least 5 days prior to the date of the performance. There are no restrictions on the hours of work. No permit will be issued unless the Commissioner is satisfied that the environment in which the drama, play, performance, concert or entertainment is to be produced is a proper environment for that child; that the conditions of such employment are not detrimental to the health or morals of that child; and that the child's education will not be neglected or hampered.

Further information can be found at the Department of Labor and Industry website, www.doli.virginia.gov, and theatrical work permits can be submitted online there.

Labor Information: Bob Armstrong – 804.371.3104 Ext. 108, robert.armstrong@doli.virginia.gov
Ms. Kathryn Franklin – 804.371.3104 Ext. 123, Kathryn.franklin@doli.virginia.gov
Website: www.doli.virginia.gov

Permits

A statewide permit is not required for filming in Virginia. However, the Virginia Film Office would appreciate it if you would contact the office when you plan to film in the state. Either email vafilm@virginia.org or call 800.854.6233. Permits are sometimes required to film on state or public properties. For more information on local permitting, contact the Film Office or the local film liaison for the area in which you plan to film.

Virginia Incentives

Tax Credits, Grants & Tax Exemptions

Virginia's motion picture incentive package is comprised of a tax credit program and the Governor's Motion Picture Opportunity Fund, a grant program. Awards are made to qualified film, television, documentary or commercial projects based on several factors including length of filming in the Commonwealth, jobs created, trainees hired and Virginia goods and services purchased. Filmmakers must have funding in place for their projects and submit the application no later than thirty days before the start of production.

Visit FilmVirginia.org for information, guidelines and the application. You may also contact Dawn Blacksten at: dblacksten@virginia.org or 800.854.6233

Additional incentives include an exemption from the state's sales and use tax, a statewide tax exemption for hotel stays of more than 90 consecutive days, and a lodging tax exemption in many localities. In most cases, state-owned locations are provided free of charge. The Film Office will assist in negotiating other free or low cost locations that have historically resulted in significant savings to productions shooting in the state.

Sales & Use Tax Exemption

Many of the expenses incurred in the purchase of production-related supplies or equipment are exempt from the state's 4% sales and use tax. This exemption is realized at the time of purchase and can be obtained by submitting a form to the merchant at the time of purchase. No paperwork needs to be filed upon completion of production and no rebates will be sent at the end of the tax year. The exemption is received at the point of purchase.

To receive the exemption, download "Commonwealth of Virginia Sales and Use Tax Certificate of Exemption" from the incentive section of FilmVirginia.org and present it to merchants at the time of purchase. In most cases, the merchant will keep a copy on file for future reference.

Listed below are some of the major items covered by the Sales and Use Tax Exemption:

- Developing film including movie film
- Transporting charges that are separately stated
- Hotel and motel rooms that are occupied by a guest for 90 or more consecutive days
- Repair services for which a separate charge is made
- Camera film
- Materials used to construct costumes
- Materials used to construct props and scenery
- Equipment rentals
- Design supplies
- Heating and air conditioning used on the set
- Scripts
- Musical scores
- Storyboards
- Tapes
- Drafting and art tables and supplies

For more information about all of Virginia's tax regulations, contact:

Bland Sutton, Virginia Department of Taxation

Phone: (804) 371-2332, Fax: (804) 371-2355,

Email: bland.sutton@tax.virginia.gov, Website: www.tax.virginia.gov.

Lodging Tax Exemptions

After 90 consecutive days, stays in a Virginia hotel or motel will be exempt from the state's lodging tax on the entire stay. Residents must pay the taxes to the hotel until the stay exceeds 90 days. After that time, lodging tax will no longer be charged and the amount already paid will be credited back to the bill.

Many counties and cities in Virginia charge an additional lodging tax, often referred to as a transient occupancy tax, and the laws governing these taxes vary greatly by locality. As a general rule, however, most localities will exempt residents of hotels and motels from the tax after a stay of 30 consecutive days or more. To find out the specific regulations of the locality in which you are planning to stay, contact the local film liaison for that area or the Virginia Film Office.
